

Crossroads

The newest addition to the Northwest's entertainment scene, Crossroads, brings together two musicians with over 40 years of combined professional music experience between them. Liam Gilmartin and Gerry Gallagher have both played with some of the best known acts in Ireland including Stockton's Wing, the Kim Newport Band, Jargon, the Magic Band, Ray Lynam Band, the Fairways, and the Rocky Tops to name but a few. They also have both put in their share of time on the local scene on the Northwest having played with groups as diverse as Sundown, the Passengers, Sandy Duskey and Easy Listenin', the Bubblemen, California, the Jazz Ladds and Aquarius.

With such a broad musical background, their set list includes everything from 50's rock n' roll to country, pop, classic rock, and everything in between. Both Gerry and Liam are multi instrumentalists, which allows them to tackle a variety of musical styles and genres. They can tailor a program for your venue which exactly meets your needs be it predominantly pop, country or more suited for dancing.

The band's name, "Crossroads," not only signifies the "intersection" of their diverse musical styles, but also the blending of their Irish and American influences, as well as the technical fact that they provide a full five piece live band sound through the marriage of MIDI and live instruments (guitars and keyboards).

In addition to their broad musical appeal and professionalism, they have invested in the highest quality equipment including a top of the range PA system and full light show ensuring the best entertainment experience around.
